

Carbonnie

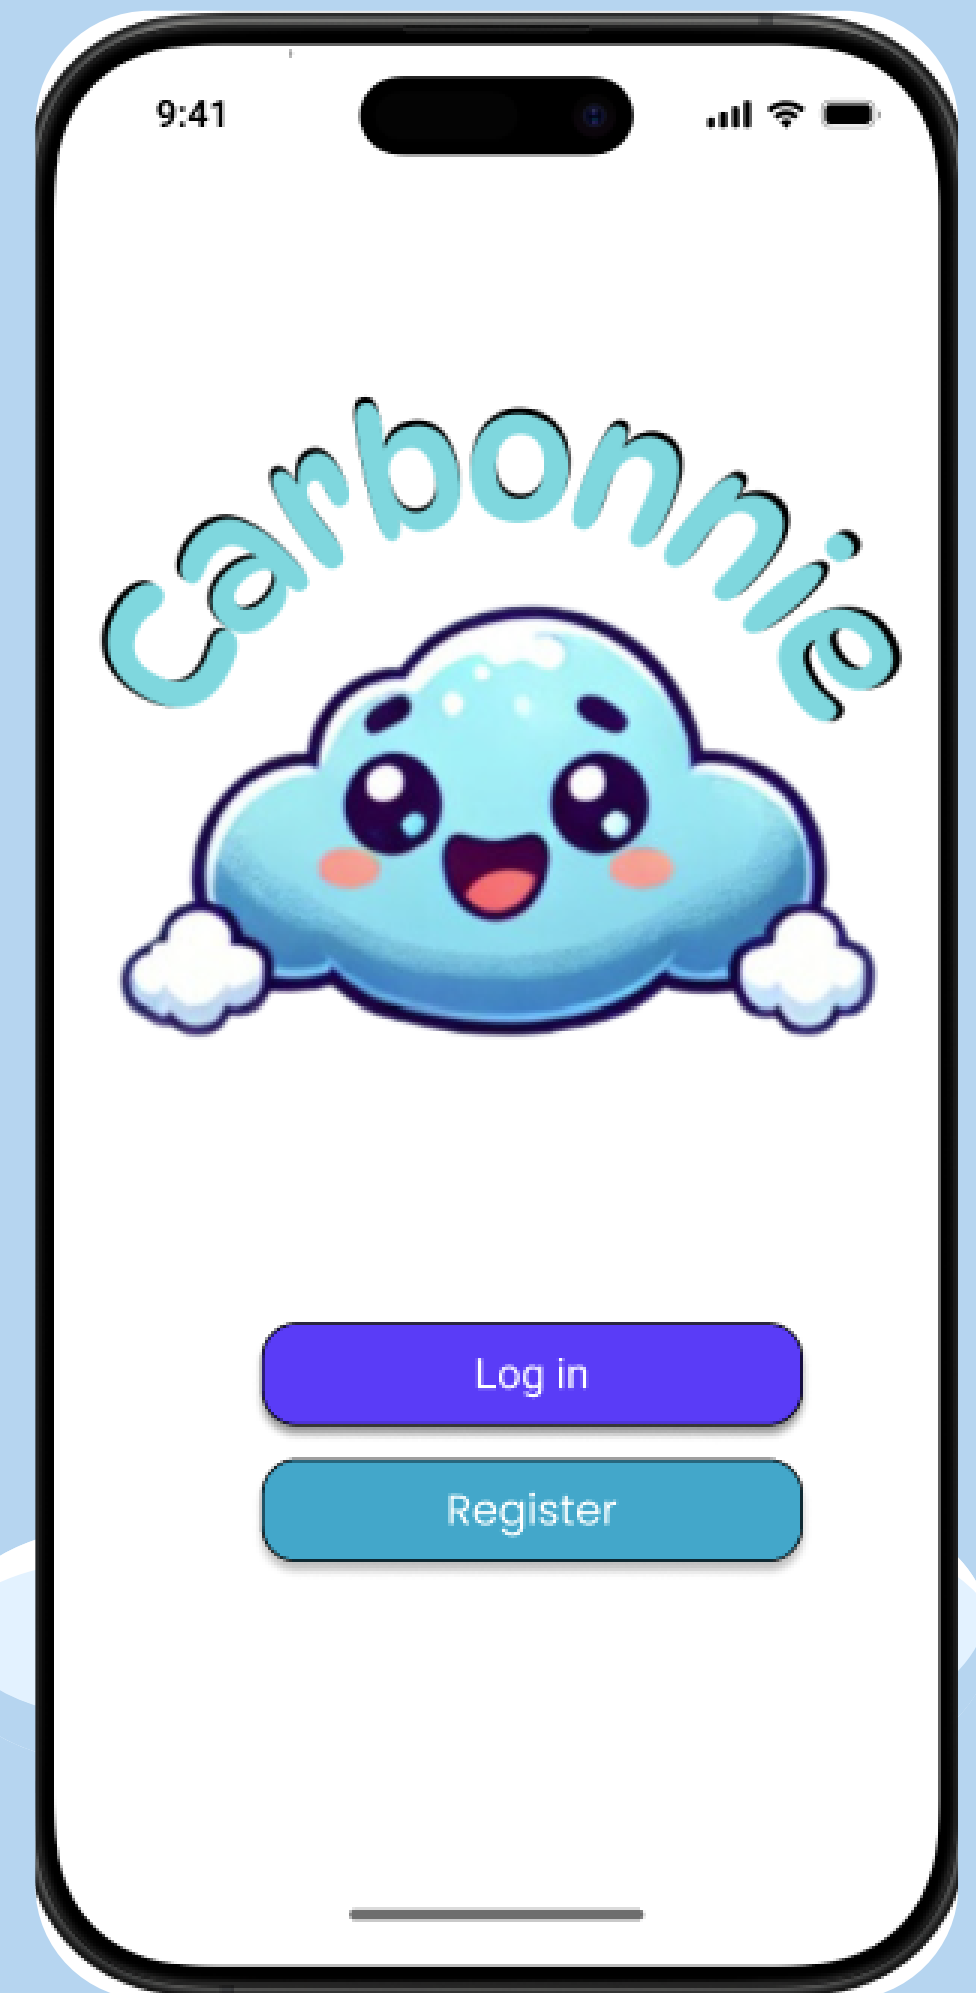

Which countries provides air quality information?

Nowadays only a few countries provides air quality information to their population like U.S., China, India and others. Carbonnie may bring these important information to people across the globe and help them to be more careful about their health

Meet Carbonnie

Carbonnie is passionate about clean air and also loves to help people to take care of their health. It is here to help us with better habits

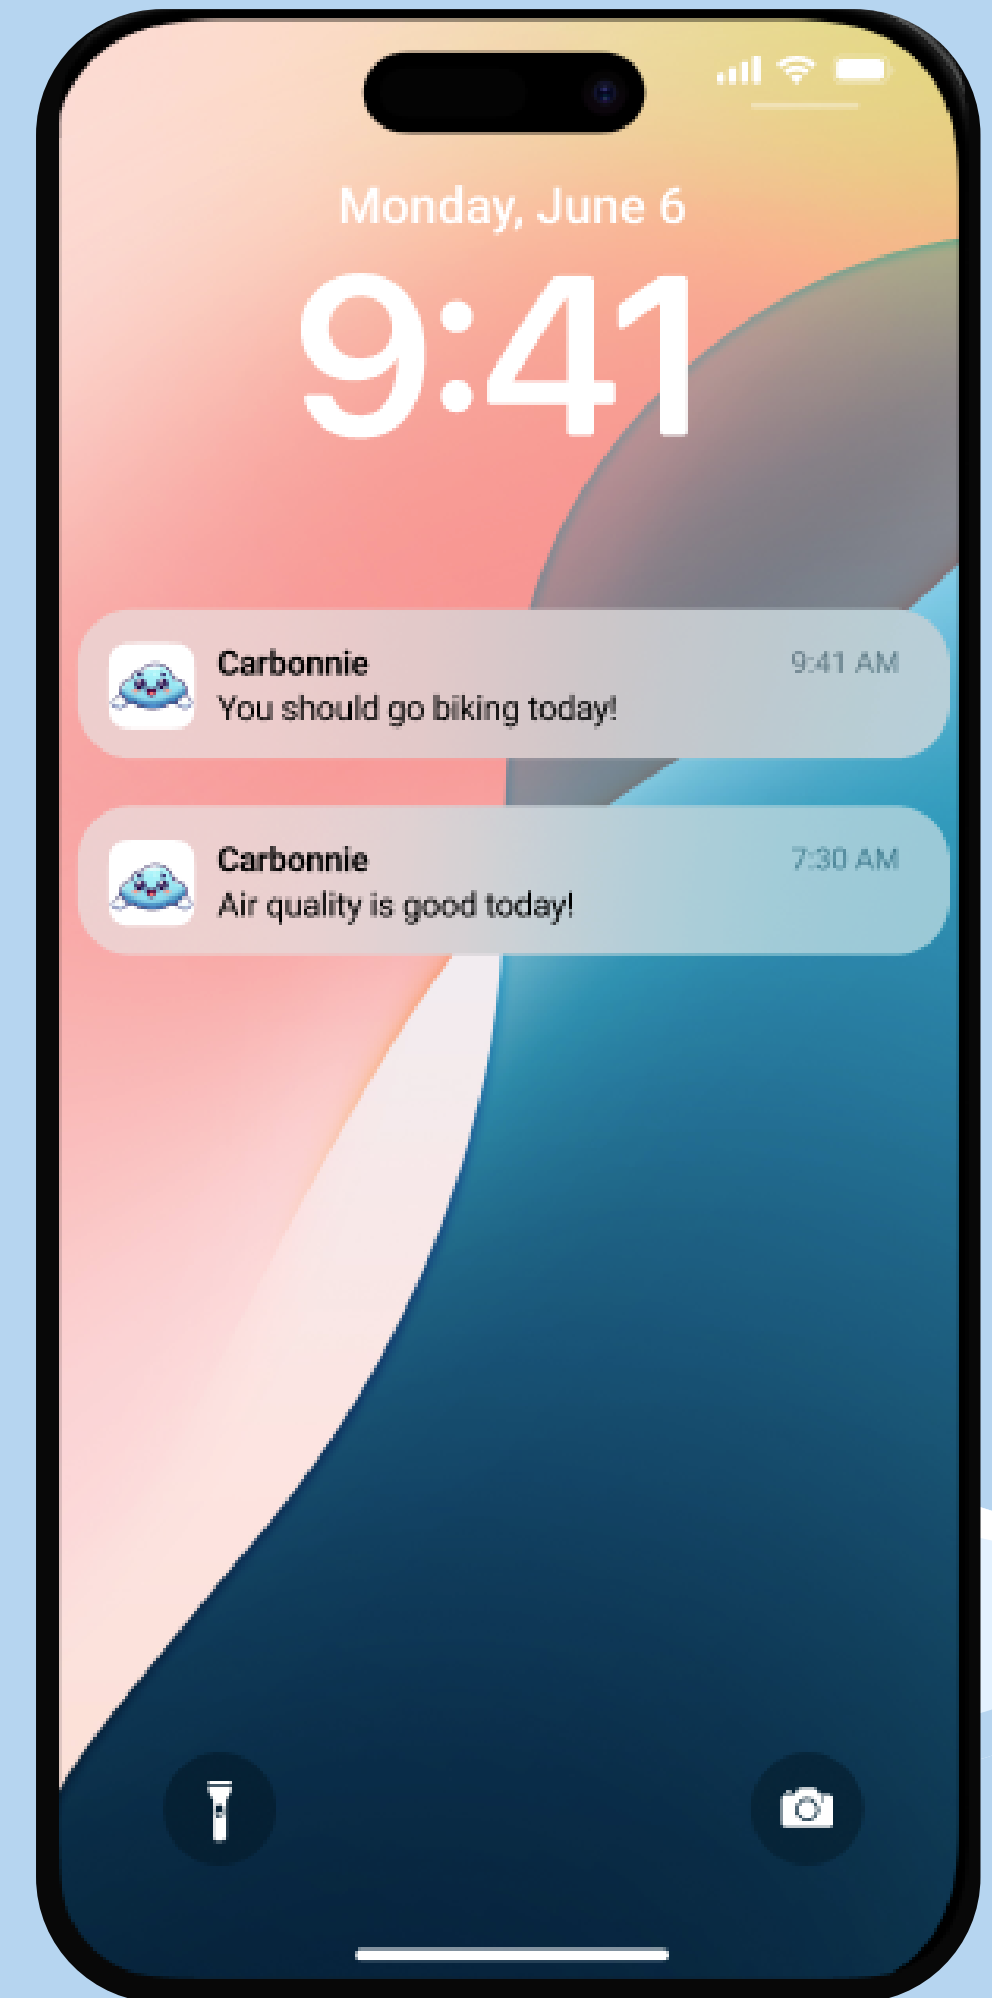

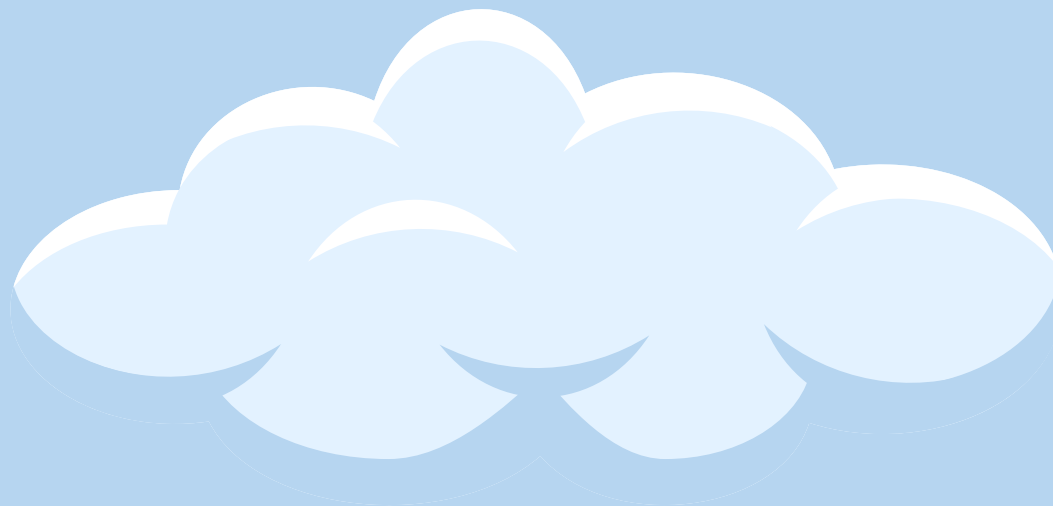

Easy Information

Through the widget, Carbonnie will informate the users about air quality. If air quality is good, it will suggest an activity based on the user likes to do

Notifications

Through notifications Carbonnie offers, users can receive alerts about air quality to choose the best alternative to start their day in a healthier way

Interaction

Carbonnie also knows that the weather can be unpredictable, so for more detailed information, users can find charts like CO₂ levels and other polluting gases. Their emotions are reflected through these data, making the service more interactive.

